

Lending a Helping Van

Ghost Written for client by Ronnie Ann Ryan

Have you seen this van around town covered with large photo-graphics of a man and woman shaking hands? You can't really miss it because that truck is everywhere. Who are these folks and why is their picture decorating a truck?

Let me introduce you to Roseanne and Bobby Vargo, an award-winning William Raveis real estate team in Milford. The two have been in the business together for more than 10 years and pride themselves on making the buying and selling process as easy as possible for their clients.

The husband and wife team have a strong belief in giving back to the community. It's part of their philosophy on life, starting with a rock-solid work ethic, a deep sense of faith and an unshakable positive outlook. That's how the idea for the truck began. They started thinking about how they could loan the vehicle to Milford organizations for special events, etc.

"The Vargo Van is available to help people achieve their dreams. Whether that means facilitating a community service project or moving into a dream home." That's Bobby's vision for how their new vehicle will be put to use.

While the van has been in town only a few months, it's already been on-call at Jonathan Law High School for their Relay for Life event. Both the police and fire departments are discussing use of the vehicle for their annual Toys for Tots event and upcoming food and clothing drives. Grinning widely, Bobby exclaims, "We're really excited because there's so much interest in the van, we're already looking into acquiring a second one."

If you are involved with a civic group or charitable organization in Milford and would like to reserve the van for an upcoming event, please call the Vargo Team at 203-996-0566. You'll find both Bobby and Roseanne on-call and ready to lend a helping van.
