You're missing important opportunities if you've been told to be humble and never brag. Today, "personal publicity" is crucial to get promoted, land a new job or client, close new business, network effectively, and so much more. Find out how to shine when it counts, rather than whine when it's too late.

Captivate Others with Compelling Self-Promotion Tips:

- How to communicate your achievements so people ask for more
- Why superiors and peers need to know about your contributions and value
- How to gain more confidence with your "Success Inventory"
- Why people want to know about you and how to leverage their curiosity

Personal PR Coach, Ronnie Ann Ryan works with people to

- Improve Image
- Increase Visibility
- Get Credit for Contributions
- Obtain Choice Assignments and more!

A vivacious and inspiring speaker, Ronnie shares proven strategies and poignant anecdotes that create a memorable and information-rich presentation.

The founder of SuccessExpress Coaching, Ronnie offers workshops, seminars, presentations, and individual coaching to help men and women promote themselves both effectively and tastefully. A few of Ronnie's most popular workshops and presentations include:

Gutsy Women Win (or Gutsy People)

Have you ever noticed that gutsy people get what they want? In today's highly competitive world, you either get noticed or get lost. Learn how to improve your image and tastefully self-promote. Muster the confidence you need to stand up for yourself at work or in social settings. Obtain the tools to get what you want, powerfully shift the way you present yourself, and positively influence how others see you too.

Good Bragging

You may think bragging is improper, but in this dynamic and interactive presentation you'll discover the huge advantages that come to those who speak well of themselves. In today's competitive market place, you must communicate your skills and value with confidence. If you don't, you risk missing important opportunities to make a good impression, get promoted, land a new job, or even make new friends. Learn how to brag easily without sounding obnoxious, and find out why people want to hear what you have to say.

Improve Your Self-Confidence in 60 Minutes

You can learn to be more self-confident! In this fun and interactive seminar, you'll be introduced to a number of tools that enhance self-image and help you feel more in charge. Assess where your personal "power leaks" are and discover how to stop self-sabotaging behavior and thoughts. When you feel more sure of yourself, it's easier to try new things, take calculated risks, make new friends, speak up for yourself and live a richer, more satisfying life.
